Tax and Taxation Incentives

- The Government will expand access to a range of small business tax concessions by increasing the turnover threshold for eligibility from $10 million to $50 million.
- The turnover threshold is based on an entity's aggregated turnover. Broadly, annual turnover means ordinary business income. Aggregated turnover includes the annual turnovers of the "relevant entities", being the entity and its connected entities and affiliates. Aggregated turnover can include both Australian and foreign income, but excludes dealings between relevant entities.
- From 1 July 2020, eligible businesses will be able to immediately deduct certain expenses when starting up a small business (such as professional, legal and accounting advice), as well as claim deductions upfront on prepayments of expenditure.
- From 1 April 2021, eligible businesses will be exempt from FBT on car parking benefits. The exemption is not available to car parking at commercial parking stations, or to entities that are public companies or subsidiaries of public companies. Eligible business will also be able to provide multiple work-related portable electronic devices (such as phones, tablets or laptops) to employees without paying FBT.
- Businesses will be able to write off the full value of any eligible asset they purchase for their business. This will be available for small, medium and larger businesses with a turnover of up to $5 billion until June 2022.
- Companies will be able to use their losses earlier. Losses incurred to June 2022 can be offset against prior profits made in or after the 2018-19 financial year.

Expanded First Home Buyer Scheme & Housing Assistance

- An extra 10,000 first home buyers will be able to obtain a loan to build or buy a newly built home with a deposit of as little as 5 per cent.
- The Government will also increase the caps on the price of such homes that can be purchased to as much as $950,000 from $750,000, to reflect the higher prices for new properties compared to existing.
- An additional $1 billion of low cost finance to support the construction of affordable housing.
- This takes the total concessional finance that has been made available to community housing providers to $3 billion.
- This is in addition to the $4.6 billion a year the Government provides in rental assistance.
- The Government is also investing $150 million in the Indigenous Home Ownership Program to construct new homes in regional areas, creating more jobs and helping hundreds of indigenous families buy their own home.
